VI. FROM RESEARCH TO GROUND IMPACT

On Indian Parliament: Inheritance law reform 2005 for gender equality

Spearheaded successful civil society campaign for amending Hindu inheritance law to make it gender-equal. Deposited before Parliamentary Standing Committee on Law and Justice; mobilized support from PM, Law Minister, members of Parliament, citizens and NGOs. Led to Hindu Succession (Amendment) Act 2005 benefitting millions of Hindu women. Partners in campaign: Housing and Land Rights Network & Human Rights Law Network.

On civil society and state government programmes for poor women farmers

(a) Led to introduction of group farming for sustainable livelihoods in India and Nepal

Research on group farming over 2010-2020 led the International Water Management Institute and several NGOs to introduce group farming in eastern India and Nepal in 2015.

- Research workshop in 2018 led a local NGO to create 16 women group farms for 92 tribal women in Gujarat, western India.
- (b) Research led to more caste-disadvantaged poor women to be included in an existing programme of 68,000 women's group farms in Kerala (south India).
- (c) In all regions, the group farming model proved more effective than individual family farming in protecting livelihoods and providing food security during COVID-19.
